Appendix 5-D. AV Releases

Introduction
These releases are to be used for the various types of production that may be produced through contracts. The exact language in each type of release being used should be reviewed and edited to fit the exact circumstances of the production. Contractors may use their own release forms as long as primary rights of release are conveyed to AHRQ. Contractors are required to provide all signed release forms to AHRQ with the final audio or video content. All new Web content is subject to review to ensure that all of AHRQ’s Web projects meet the Agency, Department, and Federal Government’s policies.

*Note: Grantees may use these forms if they do not have forms of their own; however, grantees are not required to use these versions, nor are they required to send signed copies to AHRQ.

Release for Meeting Participants
A Release for Meeting Participants is used when recording large meetings for rebroadcast in which certain people will be speaking and identified. This includes members of the audience who ask questions. If those audience members are not known before they speak, every effort should be made to have them sign the meeting participant release before they leave the room.

In addition, this language should be posted on the door to the meeting, as well as on a sign-in sheet for the general audience:

This meeting is being videotaped [or audiotaped] for public exhibition. The production will include video images [or audio recordings] of the audience. Anyone not wishing to appear in the production is hereby advised against attending this meeting. By entering the premises, you are granting permission to be included in the production for all purposes and in all media. Thank you.

The audience sign-in sheet is to be sure that audience members acknowledge their awareness of the recording and that their images/voices may be recorded. You won’t need an additional release unless they become a participant.

Talent Release (Actors)

This form is a sample of what to use when you hire people who are not government employees as narrators, actors, or extras for a pre-scripted video. This includes any paid and unpaid talent, if you think their participation will be recognizable in the final video. It also includes extras who happen to be actual employees working at your location (such as a hospital or office). It doesn’t matter if, ultimately, their image is not used; you should protect the production (and the government’s property) by getting the release signed.

If you already have a form that includes the elements in the sample release, you can use it. If your actors are being compensated for their work, the specific amount of compensation should be spelled out. If they are represented by a talent agency, union, or other organization, the representative’s contract may substitute for this release as long as it states that the actors are being paid for “worldwide rights in perpetuity.” If not cost-prohibitive, negotiate a talent agreement that will not expire.

You also can modify this release for audio production or still photography—just be sure to spell out the type of production and modify the language appropriately.
